Dear Tom and David,

I hope you are both keeping well. Tom, I know we are scheduled to chat later on, but this is rather urgent, I think. I am only 9 pages into Chapter 8, and I have almost 100 edits, some of which are major changes and criticisms. Chapter 8 is also the only chapter that I've seen come through from the author group, and their changes were minimal. I'm aware of the already sensitive nature of this chapter, but there is no way that it can publish as it is.

I am attaching what I've done so far, and I'm going to start on Chapter 9. I have to step away from this one for a bit. I've copied Larry Kapustka in on this email because he is our coordinating editor for SETAC books, and quite a talented editor. He may have some suggestions.

Tom, we can discuss this when we chat, and David, if you have time and would like to join the call, it may be quite helpful.

All the best,
Jen
